Program: Water conservation.

Report

Saving Water Saves Energy, Saving Water Saves Money, Saving Water Saves Nature.

Water conservation is the careful use and preservation of the water supply, including the quantity and quality of water utilized. Water is an essential asset for the nourishment of all life. The fundamental demand for all activities appropriate for local use to the agricultural industry. With the regularly expanding weight of the human population, there has been serious tension on water resources. Negligence of customary water bodies like tanks and lakes, unpredictable abuse of groundwater, and incorrect preservation of surface water systems have bothered the issue. Still further and is undoubtedly going to grow in the years to come. There are various approaches to making your water last nowadays. One simple yet often disregarded strategy to cut your water bill is to use your water twice. Unlike electricity, you can reuse water again and again. That's the idea of water conservation.

Water Conservation is the practice of efficiently preserving, controlling, and managing water resources. Water conservation has become essential in every part of the world, even in regions where water appears to be enough. It is the most practical and environment-friendly approach to lessen our need for water. Likewise, using less water puts less weight on our sewage treatment facilities, which use ample energy for heating water.

These ideas were expressed by shri S.K. Tambrey Asst. Prof. of Chemistry before the villagers of Pakariya village on 23/12/2021. The Sarpanch and other villagers expressed that they would try their best to conserve water as far as possible. 25 students of the college were also present in the village.

Program: Saving the Environment.

Report

I ,DR.T.L Mirjha, Asst.Prof.of Political Science express my views regarding saving the environment

9 THINGS YOU CAN DO TO SAVE THE ENVIRONMENT

STOP EATING MEAT (OR AT LEAST REDUCE IT).

The Environmental Working Group found that red meat is responsible for 10 to 40 times as many greenhouse emissions as common vegetables and grains. If the grain fed to livestock were fed to people, we could feed 800 million people! Reduce your footprint and go meatless.

STOP EATING DAIRY.

This has some of the same bleak statistics as mentioned in point one, as well as the fact that it takes a lot of feed to keep a dairy cow alive. 66 per cent of all crop calories goes to cows, and cow farts account for 28 per cent of all methane emissions related to human activity. Yes, I just wrote cow farts.

CHANGE YOUR CAR DRIVING HABITS.

We don't all have the luxury of walking everywhere, but vehicles are the biggest compromise to our air. Those tailpipes are at street level, where we can inhale the polluted air directly. Consider a world where you carpool, Uber, walk, or take public transit more often.

NOTICE HOW YOU USE WATER.

We have a lot of water in Canada, but we also use a lot of water, and 65 per cent of what we use is in the bathroom. Have shorter showers. Don't leave the tap running when you're brushing your teeth. Buy an energy efficient showerhead. It all helps.
